

REGIONAL RESOURCE STEWARDSHIP COUNCIL

MARCH 4 & 5, 2010

Discussion Questions:

The RRSC is serving as a stakeholder review group for the Natural Resource Plan (NRP) and provides TVA in-depth, ongoing discussion and input from different stakeholder viewpoints. The RRSC also serves as a source of information, a coordination mechanism, and a professional review group and collectively provides advice to TVA about NRP processes and issues. We will continue to utilize the RRSC throughout the NRP process.

TVA is beginning to develop evaluation criteria and resource planning strategies. Please provide your thoughts on the following:

- The Natural Resource Management (NRM) volume includes a great number of programs and activities. Staff is considering several alternatives which would increase, improve, and/or prioritize our stewardship efforts across NRM. What programs and activities does the Council consider as high priority? As low priority? What types of programs and/or activities would the Council consider adding to the list?
- The Water Resource Management (WRM) volume includes a great number of programs and activities. Staff is considering several alternatives which would increase, improve, and/or prioritize our stewardship efforts across WRM. What programs and activities does the Council consider as high priority? As low priority? What types of programs and/or activities would the Council consider adding to the list?
- After we have developed programs, activities, and a range of alternatives within the NRP, we need to evaluate them to ensure they meet our standards of environmental leadership. What criteria do you think would be appropriate to measure our success and define TVA as a leader in resource management?
